My very dear Sir -

I was just on the point of calling at Mr Hale's this morning, when a gentleman informed me, that you had left town in the 5 o'clock stage. I regret very much, that you did not remain till the afternoon, inasmuch as it deprives me of the pleasure of introducing you to some of our very excellent ladies & of expressing to you my thanks for your services while here. It is probable I shall see you in Boston soon & will then ~~satisfy~~ ^{satisfy} you for the supply of our pulpit -

Very respectfully yours
Gilman Parker -

P.S. Had we assembled last evening we should have had a real ^{revel} ~~revel~~. I understood this morning, that ~~your~~ ^{great} preparations had been made for the occasion - perhaps it is fortunate on the whole, that the meeting was not held -
